WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 11, 1855.

AMERICAN TICKET. Por Governor of Virginia. Por Lieutenant Gorernor. JOHN M. PATTON, of Hichmond.

Por Congress, 10th District. Next Legislature, Candidates, &c.

ture of Virginia. For our own part we care but little what it may be, provided only it is composed of good men, men who understand the true into-rests of the State, and who will act with reference thereto. The next session will have before it many imposing questions, and questions connected with the whole policy of the State. Internal Improvement will, of course, be the question of the session, and we hope that that question will not, as at the last session, absorb the entire time of the Legislature, and thus prevent all other useful legislation. We have always favored a judicious system of Internal Improvements by the State, but we must ever oppose the wholesale log-rolling and indiscriminate appropriation policy which has been so pressed of late years upon the Legisla-lature. If the leading lines of improvement be opened up, private enterprise can, and should complete the connecting links. The credit of the State should be preserved at all hazards, and next the people should not be over-taxed. The re-charter of the Old Banks must be concluded definitely at the next session. The whole finances of the State depend upon judicious action with reference to their re-charter. A single mis-step may plunge the currency of the State into an inexplicable state of confusion, second only to the pres-

For our part, we are content to "let well enough alone," and when we see our Virginia Banks without exception weathering the storm of last year, when we see them a source alike of accommodation to the community, and of safety to the stockholders, we are much inclined to the opinion that the best step would be simply to extend the charters as they are. The efforts of the last session show, however, that the question is not settled, and that there are not wanting in the Legislature men who imagine themselves Rothchilds or Ba-rings, and that they comprehend at a glance, and can improve at a word, the whole system of Virginia currency, and hence we may expect any amount of tampering and effort to introduce ridic-but embarrass the system and lead to evils and hardships from which the present system is happi-general interest, requiring the services of the best

But to come nearer home. At no past session of the Legislature have been presented questions more important to our home interests than will likely be brought before the next Legislature. He-sides the Bank question, there will most probably be applications for bridging the river above and below, and thus cut off and prostrate our labor of strictions from the Northwestern Railroad, which were solemnly agreed upon as a compromise between this city and the applicants for the charter.

These questions alone are sufficient to make our citizens open their eyes and think-whom shall we send there? And what must be the answer?

We must send the best men we have. We want to this party or that party. We must have men, and they who would pause to weigh party questions in this matter are traitors to the city and county, and the best interests of both. We have heretolore shown that on these questions we could rise above party, and we shall do so again. We prefer the

Although not fewer than forty persons in the city of Vienna must be fully aware of what has taken place at the meeting of the Conference, so well is the secret kept that almost nothing has been suffered to transpire to the agents of the public puress. It is known, however, that the first of the four bases on which a peace is to be negotiated, has been accepted en bloc, by the Russian plenipotentiaries, Prince Gortchakoff and M. de Titiff, and runs thus:

'Art, I — Abolition of the exclusive Protectorate of Russia in Moldavia and Wallachia, the privileges accorded to those provinces by the Sultan being placed under the gustantee of the Five Powers.'

Position or Frence.

Lord Lyndhurst, in the House of Lords, brought forward this motion, of which he had given notice, and which excited great interest in the country: "To call the attention of Parliament to the position of Prussia, with reference to the approaching negotiations at Vienna." Lyndhurst in a speech of great length and ability, proceeded to denoinstrate, from diplomatic documents, that the conduct of Prussia in Moldavia and Wallachia, the privileges accorded to those provinces by the Sultan being placed under the gustantee of the Five Powers."

The London Morning Post warns its readers or against putting foith in the accounts of what has been appeared in the conference. It says that a record to feach day's proceedings is drawn up and signed by the plenipotentiaties, and that this mode of signature may readily give rise to erfoneous reports of an agreement having been come to on the points of guarantee.

Needlesself to be.

The Earl of Charendon did not rise to reply to Lord Lyndhurst with any intention of becoming the apologist of Prussia. It was metancholy to the plenipotentiaties, and that this mode of signature of the policy contrary to the true interests of an agreement having been come to on the points of the mation, and which might be characterized as neither Ruronean, German nor Prussian. of the nation, and which might be caused.
